MICHIGAN WILL BLAZE TRAIL IN REPEAL BALLOT

Voters Are First to Elect
Their Convention
Delegates

DISTRICT VOTE GETS UNDER WAY

Meeting On April 10 Will Formally Record
Sentiment

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, April 3.—Michigan
blazes an unmapped trail today, as the first state to elect its constitutional convention for consideration of the amendment to repeal national prohibition.

An estimated 900,000 voters will elect 100 delegates to the convention, one from each of the 100 representative districts.

Will Formally Record Sentiment
In each district there are two candidates, one is pledged to vote for ratification of the repeal amendment; the other for retention of the Eighteenth amendment.

Thus when the convention assembles on April 10, it will have no deliberative function to perform—only a formal recording of the sentiment expressed by the voters
at the polls.

Although this is the first opportunity voters anywhere have had to render a decisive verdict on national prohibition, state prohibition was a clear-cut issue at the polls last November—and the wets won, repealing the "bone dry" clause in the Michigan constitution by a vote of 102,508 to 475,265.

That was done by a popular majority. Detroit's vote, weighing heavily in the balance. Today, however, with the vote in each district standing alone, the chances for repeal are proportionately less and prohibition leaders are basing their hopes principally on that factor.

Repealists Fearsful
Repealists conceded that the vote
by districts constitutes a major hazard to their hopes and they issued warnings over the weekend
against "over-confidence."

In today's election Wayne county (Detroit), which casts approximately half the popular vote, elects only 21 of the 100 delegates.

Governor William A. C. Constock, addressing a Democratic rally, asserted that today's vote will determine the ultimate rate of national prohibition.

Jimmy and Betty Ask About License

(By Associated Press)
CANNES, France, April 3.—Former Mayor Walker of New York and his friend, Betty Compton, the actress, called at the city hall today and received full information about the marriage regulations here.

"We were just getting the necessary information," Walker said,
when he was asked about a rumor that he and Miss Compton had been married, "when I get married I'll let you know."

Alfred Sharon, Mr. Walker's
lawyer, went to the marriage bureau with them.

Officials at the bureau said Mr.
Walker had notified them several days ago that he would be married soon. They refused to disclose the date he had set, explaining that he had asked them to keep that a secret.

Roosevelt Asks Legislation To Readjust Principal, Cut Interest On Farmers' Debts

Urges Congress to Act to Restore to Agriculturists
Hope of Ultimately Owning Their Own Land

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—President Roosevelt recommended to congress today the enactment of legislation authorizing refinancing
of farmers' indebtedness.

Beginning his fifth white house
week with the dispatch of his seventh message to the legislators, the President opened the way for inclusion of his latest major plan as an amendment to the farm relief
bill in the senate.

Applying on farm mortgages, the message proposed both readjustment of the principal of the farmers' debts and a reduction of interest rates.

Seeks "Free Ownership"
He also proposed "a temporary readjustment of amortization, to give sufficient time to farmers to restore to them the hope of ultimate free ownership of their own land."

The President said he would soon propose an extension of this program to the debt burdened owners of small homes.

He also disclosed he would ask congress for legislation permitting
the initiation of reciprocal tariff agreements.

"The legislation I suggest," said
the President, "will not impose a heavy burden upon the national treasury."

His text follows:
"To the congress:
"As an integral part of the board
plan to end the forced liquidation
of property to increase purchasing power and broaden the credit structure for the benefit of both the producing and consuming elements in our population, I ask the congress

TWO ARE HURT AS AUTO SKIDS

Warren Car Turned Over;
Two Other Accidents
In District

Two persons were injured when an automobile driven by Nick German, 1245 Buena Vista ave., Warren, skidded and turned over on the Salem-Westville rd., four miles west of this city, Sunday.

German's wife sustained lacerations
and bruises while a daughter suffered a fractured wrist. Others escaped injury.

The accident occurred when German turned the machine to avoid a collision with a milk truck.

Three Coraopolis, Pa., girls, Misses Grace and Frances Browning and Marie Coleman, enroute to Akron, suffered minor injuries in a highway mishap on the Millville
hill, east of Salem, Saturday.

A truck and trailer, which the girls were following, stopped suddenly on the hill, then slipped backwards, jamming into their car.

Sidney B. Magnolius, 2717 Cherry st., Toledo, was bruised and shaken up when his automobile skidded
and was turned over near Westville.
He was treated by a local physician and was able to continue the trip today.

The disabled cars were towed to Salem by the Grate Motor Co.
wrecker.

Electric Washers Silent In Warren

WARREN, O., April 3.—The swish-ing of electric washing machine was absent in scores of homes today as housewives rubbed their clothes on the corrugated surface of washboards.

The return to old-fashioned washing methods was the women's contribution in the fight of about 200
patrons of the Windham Electric Co. for lower rates for electric current. They ordered their lights shut off Saturday, asserting they would do without electricity until their terms are met.

On the other hand, officials of the company said some customers had expressed satisfaction with the reductions the concern put into effect when mailing the bills for March service. The rate cuts, the officials said, approximated 30 per cent.

Boys Charged With Stealing Bicycles

Two 14-year-old Salem boys were turned over to county juvenile authorities today following their arrest by Police Chief Ralph Stoffer after it was reported that the youngsters had stolen several bicycles.

Three bicycles and parts of others,
all repainted, allegedly stolen by the boys, were taken by police and are being held for identification by the owners.

SPECIAL MEETS ARE LAUNCHED IN 3 CHURCHES

Dr. W. H. McMaster, Mt.
Union College, Gives
Initial Address

PLAN SERVICES
FOR 2-WEEK PERIOD

Rev. C. F. Evans to Speak
At Presbyterian Church
This Evening

"God is seeking to build a new and better world," declared Dr. W.
H. McMaster, president of Mt.
Union college, Alliance, who spoke at a union service of the Presbyterian, Christian and Methodist Episcopal churches Sunday evening
at the Christian church.

This service marked the opening of a spiritual emphasis campaign which will be conducted by these churches for the next two weeks.

Dr. McMaster used for his theme,
"Creative Living" and for his text
a verse taken from Rev. 21st chapter "Behold I Make all Things New."

"Man is to be God's partner in the building of this new world," according to Dr. McMaster. "Man is to help in driving out greed, hatred,
race prejudice and war."

"Some people say that human nature cannot be changed. History proves that human nature can be changed."

"God is able to lead us into a new and better world."

Rev. C. F. Evans presided. The choir of the church sang an anthem
and Arnold P. Lutes and Wallace
Hudson sang a duet.

The church was filled to its capacity for this service.

Tonight's service will be at the Presbyterian church and Rev. C. F.
Evans will speak.

TWO TRAINMEN DIE IN WRECK

Engineer, Fireman Killed
As Baseball Train
Hits Switch

(By Associated Press)
DOVER, Del., April 3.—An intensive manhunt was on today for train wreckers, authors of what officials termed the plot which caused the wreck of a Pennsylvania railroad flyer bearing the Boston Red Sox baseball team northward, killing the engineer and fireman.

Thundering toward New York
early yesterday, the train struck a switch which railroad authorities said had been tampered with, and left the rails three miles south of here.

The locomotive turned over on its side, killing C. A. Burkhard of Wilmington, Del., the engineer, and Fireman E. L. Poulson of Delmar,
Del. The express car immediately behind the locomotive plunged into a concrete warehouse, partially wrecking it, and six other cars, including the three Pullmans, occupied by the Boston players, were derailed but remained upright.

None of the Red Sox party was injured although many of them were hurled from their berths and shaken up. Water from a damaged tank car flooded their cars to a depth of several inches and in the darkness confusion reigned for some time.

Five hours after the wreck, a special train carried the ball players to Jersey City, N. J., where they appeared none the worse for their experience overwhelming the Jersey City International league club, 12
to 0.

An immediate investigation of the wreck was begun by railroad officials. On the scene were C. E.
Whitlock, general superintendent of the Wilmington division, and K. R.
Vought, superintendent of the Delmar division. They were quoted as saying they found evidence of "malicious tampering with one switch, and perhaps two."

Hawk Asks Chance To Restore Funds

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 3.—O.
E. Hawk, former real estate and mortgage operator here, against whom 32 indictments have been returned charging he swindled local persons of $250,000 eleven years ago, today asserted that, if given an opportunity, he would attempt to make restitution to all who lost through his company in 1923.

Hawk, who was released from Leavenworth penitentiary Saturday
after serving a year for conspiracy,
was brought back by Sheriff William J. Englehart and Assistant Prosecutor William F. Yonke.

Question Husband

COLUMBUS, O., April 3.—Police
today planned again to question Dwight Haggard in the slaying of his wife, Eunice Haggard, 25.

Although still without clues, officers said they had a "new lead."
The woman's bullet-riddled body was found in her automobile a week ago.

Music was provided by the church choir assisted by Edward Simchar of Cleveland, who sang two solos, "I Need Thee Every Hour" and "Eless-
ed Are They That Mourne," accompanied by Mrs. Ruth E. Berry.

Miss Addie Bonnell of the Christian church spoke briefly, emphasizing Mr. Grable's ministry with the Salem church, which extended over a period of almost 29 years. She spoke also of his wonderful work and leadership in connection with the Sunday school; the organization in 1909 of the Umstead class, named in honor of the late Miss Maggie Umstead, for many years superintendent of the Sunday school and the home but did not injure Mrs.

Beulah Henrack, half sister of the victim, who was on the second floor.

Mrs. Lewis, enveloped by flames
after the blast, was rescued by firemen. Her husband, Russell Lewis, and two daughters survive.

Federal Workers Ready
To Make Sweeping Reductions Effective

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Instructions to field workers were prepared today by the veterans administration to carry out President Roosevelt's order for a slashing cut of $400,000,000 in annual benefits paid
to war veterans.

The chief executive's action hits
all along the line, with officials indicating that new construction at veterans' hospitals will be held up unless the improvements already are under way. Some institutions may even be closed if conditions warrant.

Drops Non-Service Cases
The biggest savings, about $100-000,000, will come through removing from the benefit lists all veterans whose injuries or sickness are non-service connected, unless the victims are totally or permanently disabled. Those totally or permanently disabled—even though not rendered so by service—will receive only $20
a month as compared with $40.

The new allowances, effective July 1, for service connected cases are

Grand Jury to Hear Cult Tragedy Story

(By Associated Press)
INEZ, Ky., April 3.—The Martin county grand jury met here today to hear witnesses unfold the story of a strange religious service that culminated in the sacrifice of an elderly mother in a mountain cabin near Tombahawk, a small village in the eastern Kentucky mountains.

The victim, Mrs. Lucinda Mills, in her late sixties, was found choked to death and her body bound in chains last February. Shortly afterwards her son, John H. Mills, 33, was bound over to a preliminary hearing as the actual slayer. Eight others, all relatives, were held as accessories. John Mills and Ballard Mills, 19, a grandson of the slain woman, are still in jail, but the others were freed under $10,000 bond each.

Should the accused be indicted and brought to trial, S. M. Maynard of defense counsel indicated pleas of insanity will be entered.

The two prisoners declined to discuss the case as the grand jury prepared to start its investigation.

"We've nothing to say about it," Ballard Mills said. "John don't talk to nobody."

YOUNG WIFE IS BURIED ALIVE

Eight Filipinos Jailed, Others Sought In
Weird Murder

(By Associated Press)
MARTINEZ, Calif., April 3.—Accused of burying a young woman alive in a ceremony prescribed by their cult for unfaithful wives, eight Filipinos were held in jail here today.

Authorities said others would be arrested and charged with participation in the horrible death of 26-year-old Celine Navarro, whose body was exhumed from a hidden grave on Jersey Island in the San Joaquin river yesterday.

By the light of flaming torches, investigators reported, the young expectant mother was thrown into her grave the night of last Nov. 19,
and earth shoveled over her living body.

She had been accused of unfaith-fulness to her sick husband when brought before a meeting of the Kalaya-An-Marie-Clara earlier the same night. Her husband, who has since died, was ready enough to forgive her but the women members of the cult demanded her death.

Mrs. Navarro was bound and gagged, police continued and carried by automobile to Jersey Island where two Filipino laborers were

AN AMERICAN SETTING

It would be difficult to determine exactly what the collected opinions of a representative group of Americans would be if there could be a canvass on the prospects of the coming economic parley. Unfortunately, the parley has been the subject of a vast deal of talking and little action so far. It is a shadow-land institution, too vague to be taken seriously as yet.

However, it is very much in the minds of statesmen. Plans, though vague, are being carried forward. Programs are taking form in the capitals of the nations which will send delegates. The parley slowly is coming back to a semblance of the form in which it first appeared—a means of readjusting international relationships for the purpose of hastening the day when the world will shake off depression.

The suggestion that the meeting place be changed from London to Washington helps to bring the parley into American attention. Although it is certain that nothing will be done to force the change, there is a possibility that it will come about naturally. There is much to commend an American setting; this country might feel closer to international problems if they were not discussed so often under European date lines.

It is said that European statesmen have grown cautious in making agreements with the United States, for the good reason that agreements made by diplomats so often are repudiated later by the senate, acting officially, and the house, acting unofficially. A conference held in Washington, in the sight, hearing and understanding of congressmen, might help to win their confidence. That "advice and consent" which the President is supposed to get from the senate might be obtained before instead of after the act of agreeing with other governments.

Democrats are said to be fearful lest, if the parley were held in Washington, its failure would reflect discredit on President Roosevelt. The fear is a foolish one. Americans may not be of age, politically, but they are wise enough in the ways of conferences to know that failure cannot be laid to any one man. Few of them are so bold as to expect success from a parley to correct unfavorable conditions in the world's economies. Little more than a start is expected. There is reason to believe it might be achieved more easily in Washington than in London.

COLONEL WOODCOCK OUT

Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, who was made head of the prohibition bureau during the Hoover administration as a demonstration of political sincerity in enforcing the law, has finished his fighting on that front. Reinstated by President Roosevelt since inauguration day, he has stepped out to make a place for Major A. V. Dalrymple of California, one of Senator McAdoo's patronage beneficiaries.

Incidents of the shift, particularly the message sent out to the bureau's field workers by Colonel Woodcock as he left his post, show that it is the Roosevelt administration's intention to prove that it will sanction no relaxation of federal enforcement against manufacture and sale of distilled liquors. Although the Volstead act has been altered to permit sale of beer and wine of a restricted alcoholic content, the bars against those beverages about whose intoxicating power there is no question will not be lowered.

Rather, according to indications, there is a purpose to intensify the drive against important producers of illicit liquor. Small production is not a factor in the kind of enforcement that, apparently, is contemplated.

plated. The big fellow is the best game. He represents the real menace of bootlegging. His money subsidizes gangs and stimulates murderous competition. Sooner or later, he must be scotched. With or without the hope of repealing the 18th amendment, the big manufacturer of illicit liquor represents an obstacle to orderliness that must be removed.

If he is permitted to linger until the amendment is repealed, he will have to be kicked out then. There is good sense in making it hard for him now. By waging a vigorous campaign against him the prohibition bureau may take the sting out of the prohibitionist charge that abstinence by force never was given a chance to succeed by sincere efforts to enforce the law. They should take note of the fact that now, when the law is about to be changed, enforcement is going to increase in vigor. The purposeful man who operated the prohibition bureau under Mr. Hoover will be replaced by another purposeful man who will serve Mr. Roosevelt. The people cannot help but admire the courage of these men whose job it is to direct a battle which can't be won.

What Others Say

THE CORNER AT LAST

The turn has come. The country is safe. A dispatch, describing the visit of John D. Rockefeller Sr. to the annual village street fair at Ormond Beach, Fla., informs a carefree nation:

"Entering into the spirit of the occasion with keen delight, Mr. Rockefeller watched a girl 5 years old do a toe dance while her brother, 11, played a violin accompaniment. Before leaving he placed his hand on the head of one of the younger children and nimbly kicked over it."

If this 93-year-old irrepressible, despite all his worries to make both ends meet, can nevertheless kick up his heels and be merry, shame to younger Americans who still linger and languish in depression!

Spring is here! Recover with Mr. Rockefeller! Shake a leg and squander a dime!—Columbus Citizen.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Diary of a modern Peeps: Betimes and a brave note from Vera Corbett, Jim's widow. Also, good news of Ruth and Reginald Wright Kaufman, in Geneva. And, at breakfast, arose a discussion of character actors, the season's best I think was Etienne Girardot as the religious crank in the "29th Century."

So to my chambers, putting things in order against anon. Then driving with my wife and Harry Silvey to the Frazier Hunt's in Bronxville. And Chic Sale there, and Bracher DeMarcus, and as merry an afternoon of country jake babblement as ever I had in my life.

In the evening, to lighten the larder at Alma Clayburgh's with the Claude G. Boveries, and the Theodore Dreisers. Later, Harold Ross, Will Hearst Jr., the Morton Downeys and many bigwigs dropped in. So I maneuvered Downey into a corner to sing tenor to my alto in "Sweet Adeline," very sweet it was, too.

Throughout the prolonged gloom, Grand Central red caps have not lost their grins. One tells me a blessing of portering these days is they are no longer pack mules. Travelers who once piled drawing rooms high with blond, silver radiated luggage, now occupy a lower or upper and carry a single hand grip.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, April 4

The astral auguries for this day are for much activity and stirring about, with possible fresh opportunities in the way of new contracts, fresh environs and associations. These may be brought about by convenience or intrigue, probably in transactions of secret agreements with combines, mergers or rings, or through the instigation of elderly persons or institutions. The energies and faculties will be well stimulated for initiative and bold strokes in such connection.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very active and enterprising year, with profit and benefits to be gained by diplomacy, conspiracy or secret agreements. A child born on this day may be active, enterprising, adventurous and possibly disposed to move and think along strictly original and independent lines. These may reap benefits in later life.

Notable nativity: Linus Yale, inventor Yale lock.

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPIING

CHAPTER ONE

A wet, winter dusk tangled itself among the oak woods west of Navestock town, making the blacks and greys of the landscape seem colder and more sad. The grinding of wheels and the "plud-pludding" of drenched horses drifted along the high road with the galloping of the wind. Old Tom Tysar, muffled up on the box of the "White Hart" coach, shook the rain from his hat-brim and grumbled:

"Never known such weather! I've come home these seven days a-sittin' in a puddle!"

Wet it was, and Navestock Valley might have been some primeval sea-bottom suddenly upheaved, still drenched and running with the backwash of the sea. The land lay sodden and tired; the trees shook the rain from their boughs with petulant impatience. As for the grey coach-horses, their ears flopped dejectedly, and did not pick up at the sound of the postman's horn. Mr. Winkworth's red-wheeled coach labored and squeaked, and strained. A decrepit veteran, it crawled daily between the railway at Wannington and Navestock town, its black panels needing paint, its musty interior smelling of stable dung and straw.

The passenger on the box beside old Tom Tysar saw Navestock town draw out of the dusk like a great rock in a gray sea. At first it was a black mass in the valley, but then began to blink as the coach passed the lodge gates of "Pardons" and swung along beside the swollen river. Darkness blotted out the cloud send above the swaying tops of the elms, and in Navestock lights blinked more and more, isolated yellow specks upon the outskirts, but clustered like star clusters towards the center of the town. By old Josiah Crabbe's stone house, where the row of Lombardy poplars whistled with the wind, the cobbles of West Street clashed a welcome to the horses' hoofs. The sounds reverberated in the winding street, where footpaths gleamed wet in the light from cottage windows.

A church tower, more elm trees, and the black mouths of side streets and alleys drifted by before the coach crunched across the market-place and drew up outside the White Hart hotel. The darkness of a wet February evening hid the utter unimportance of this old-world event. The coach arrived, that was all. It carried just three passengers, and they abandoned it, and went their several ways. There was no stir of ostlers, no fluttering of curtains at the windows, no fat Mr. Winkworth standing under the "White Hart" portico. A single oil lamp flickered on its iron bracket over the hotel door. The pavement and square were crowded with nothing but puddles. All the upper windows in the big, white-fronted, square-built inn were black and lifeless patches. The bar and the billiard-room alone were steamily and huskily alive.

The tall man in the ulster had climbed down from the box seat and deposited a shabby leather portmanteau under the portico of the "White Hart." He glanced about him, took off a rain-splashed top-hat and smoothed the nap with the sleeve of his ulster. The light from the oil lamp dribbled down on him with a draughty waywardness. He was tall with a gaunt breadth of shoulder that wedged out of his ulster into sharp, square corners. The lamplight fell on his face and ran off it like water off a crag, an ugly face with a big nose and a square chin. He was clean-shaven about a straight, terse mouth, and his eyes looked very steadily and very intently at life, as though determined to see nothing but the truth.

A boy came splashing through the puddles in the market place, and stared doubtfully at the young man under the "White Hart" portico.

"Be you for Dr. Threadgold's, mister?"

He was a fat boy, with blown-out cheeks, a white muffer that bulged under his chin, and trousers that fitted very tightly over a certain portion of his figure. The man studied him with that indescribable gleam of the eyes that goes with a lively sense of humor that goes with "That's right—Mr. Pickwick. I've just come by the coach."

"My name's not Pickwick."

"I beg your pardon, I'm sure."

The boy eyed him suspiciously.

"My name's Sam, Sam Perkins."

"The Old Order Changeth"

Silent testimony to the change of sentiment in Germany is offered by this sign, at which a Berlin policeman looks approvingly. During the days of the Republic, this street was called the "Platz der Republik" (Square of the Republic). Since Chancellor Adolf Hitler, with the aid of his Nazis and the Steel Helmets, a monarchist organization, assumed control of the country, the street has been re-named "Königsplatz" (King's Square).

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Danger of Neglected Wounds

About twenty years ago the American Medical Association first launched its attack against the dangers of fireworks and pleaded for a safe and sane Fourth of July.

Many of my readers undoubtedly recall the many tragedies and accidents which used to occur on this day of celebration.

As a result of the combined efforts made by the American Medical Association and the National Safety Council, July Fourth has now become much safer. In many instances the sale of explosives and firecrackers is prohibited.

One of the most terrifying and feared diseases, not infrequently traced to injuries caused by firecrackers, is a disease called "tetanus." Tetanus, or "lockjaw," is caused by a certain type of germ which is commonly found in soil, water and in decaying materials. When firecrackers scorch or burn the skin, the surface is broken, permitting the tetanus germ to enter the body. "Tetanus Anti-Toxin"

When it is known that an individual has been exposed to tetanus, immediate steps should be taken to prevent this disease. This can be accomplished by the administration of "tetanus anti-toxin."

Unfortunately, most of us are negligent, perhaps not realizing how serious a trifling injury received from a firecracker may be. To guard against the danger, the anti-toxin should be given immediately after the injury has occurred. When delayed or neglected, fatal lockjaw may occur.

Lockjaw may result from injuries other than those received from firecrackers. The disease may follow lacerations and abrasions where dirt, splinters or clothing which carry the dreaded germ, are driven into the skin. To protect against this, the giving of tetanus anti-toxin is now a routine treatment in the emergency rooms of all general hospitals.

The first sign of lockjaw is a slight stiffness of the neck. This may occur from one day to four weeks after the accident. Chewing food and talking become difficult. Gradually the muscles of the face become affected. Pain upon the jaws are set and difficult to open.

If tetanus anti-toxin has not been given, its use should not be delayed any longer. Unfortunately, if the anti-toxin is not available, the disease may be fatal.

Never neglect a wound or abrasion of the skin. Cases of lockjaw have resulted from the most trifling injuries. A scratch from a rusty nail is dangerous and should never be disregarded. In addition to careful cleaning of the wound, consult with your doctor who will give you the protecting injection if he considers it advisable.

May I warn you again about the dangers of firecrackers and explosives. It is hoped that in this coming July the number of accidents and permanent injuries resulting from explosives will be less than ever before. We are indebted to the

Rarely photographed together in recent years, the John D. Rockefeller, Sr. and Jr., are here shown as they left the home of F. W. A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

ILLUSION:

You see knives flash from the magician's hand and plunge into the board, framing the girl so closely that she cannot move.

EXPLANATION:

Here is one way the blindfold knife throw is done: The knife thrower lets the knife go over his shoulder into the wings. The knife that you see quivering beside the girl is another knife. The girl standing against the board presses at the right place and a knife is sprung from behind the board into position.

NO TRICKS
..JUST COSTLIER
TOBACCOS
IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

A clever trick employed in cigarette advertising is the illusion that manufacturing processes account for mildness in a cigarette.

EXPLANATION: All popular cigarettes are made in much the same way. Cigarettes vary greatly in mildness because they vary greatly in the quality of tobaccos used. Mildness, as well as character and good taste, depends upon the quality of tobaccos used.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is the most important statement ever made in a cigarette advertisement. Weigh its words. Consider what it means. Smoke Camels critically and learn to appreciate what costlier tobaccos can mean to you in mildness, in throat-ease... in added pleasure! Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.

HOME MAKING HELPS

Timely Home Laundry Hints

Doing the washing at home isn't an easy job by any means. And so this is no doubt why I get so many requests for laundry lore from those of my readers who have a big wash of their own. One request is for the best way to wash bathrobes, the nice, snug woolly ones. I want to tell this reader that woolen bathrobes should be measured accurately before they get their tubbing. Then secure a tub large enough to obtain plenty of rich warm suds in lukewarm water. All washing and rinsing water should be exactly of the same temperature. Put through two or more labbers of fresh soapuds; rinse thoroughly, press through a loose wringer then roll in bath sheets or old sheets to take out excess moisture. Hang the bathrobe on a clothes hanger that has been padded to fit the shoulders, and, while it is still wet, pull it carefully to fit the measurements you have taken of the robe before it got its tubbing.

Clothes Snowy White
Another reader complains that while her clothes leave the tub in a snowy white condition, they often develop seemingly mysterious smudges and tears before they reach the clothes line. One way to guard against this household catastrophe is to place each piece in a muslin-lined clothes basket after wringing it. The lining should be made to fit the basket and should fasten over the rim with tapes or a drawstring. With this arrangement the wet clothes will not be soiled by contact with the basket or torn by loose bits of wicker. For it is often the clothes basket that is the seemingly mysterious cause of all the tears and smudges on newly washed clothes. When you have removed the pieces from the clothes line and sprinkled them, replace them in the basket.

They will then keep sweet and clean until you are ready to iron them. Keep a supply of these muslin linings on hand so that there will always be a clean one to protect your wash.

Cheese Dishes You Will Like

Cheese is a delightful aid to cooking, and some really tasty savory dishes can be made by utilizing stale pieces of cheese that otherwise might be thrown away. And, as lots of people like cheese, but avoid it because of fear of indigestion, it is good to know that when cheese is used, not only "au gratin" but as an integral ingredient, it is generally rendered quite digestible. Then, too, dishes containing cheese are invariably most nourishing. American cheese is excellent for most recipes except of course those of the Italian variety.

Finnan Haddie and Cheese
Finnan haddie and cheese makes a grand supper dish. A nice, fleshy finnan haddie, should be cooked in the usual way, then remove all the meat and flake it. Then melt two tablespoons of grated cheese, three tablespoons of milk, a lump of butter and salt and pepper to taste. Stir in the haddock, add a dash or two of pungent sauce, if desired, and spread the mixture when cooked, on rounds of buttered toast.

Have you ever served cheese sauce with fish, in place of parsley sauce? Prepare it by putting a tablespoon of flour in a bowl, mix to a paste with a little water, add pepper and salt to taste, then stir in a half pint of boiling milk. Return the mixture to saucepan, set over flame and cook for eight minutes, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon. Now add a cup of grated cheese, and a lump of butter. Stir further until the cheese is entirely dissolved and then pour the sauce over the fish.

A Welsh Rarebit Mixture
For sandwiches, too, here's a good recipe. Make up a good Welsh rarebit mixture and use it to spread on bread for cheese sandwiches. Sprinkle the cheese with paprika. Then saute the sandwiches in butter in the frying pan and serve hot. Delicious for special guests.

By the way, in response to a request, here is a really good recipe for Welsh rarebit. It is very tasty and best of all, this rarebit will not "string".

Put one tablespoon of butter in a chafing dish, and add one and a half cups of finely cut cheese. Stir well until entirely melted and blended. Stir in two well beaten eggs. Add half teaspoon of baking powder, one teaspoon sugar and one teaspoon mustard. Add a dash of cayenne. Stir and cook over water until very smooth. Serve on toast.

Try These Orange Desserts

Orange blossoms with their haunting beauty and soft fragrance are surely the most appropriate blossoms in the world for the bride as she walks in romantic, glamorous splendor to the altar. And so, with a mind to the many spring weddings that will be solemnized right after Lent, we are giving you a most delicious orange dessert and a wedding cake that uses not only orange peel candied, but orange juice as well.

First we'll discuss dessert. It should be served by yellow or orange frosted angel cake decorated in white orange blossom design. Now for the orange dessert which will serve 12 people. Cut slices from the tops of 12 large oranges, remove pulp, leaving inside clean. Dice orange pulp and mix with two cups of diced bananas and one cup sugar. Fill orange shells half full of the fruit mixture. Add ice cream to fill and top with sweetened whipped cream. Garnish each orange with a spray of candied orange blossoms.

Orange Wedding Cake
Old-fashioned wedding cake recipes usually call for brandy, but here is a splendid recipe, economical and simple, in which orange juice gives equally delicious results. The recipe here given will make ten pounds of wedding cake.

Cream one pound of butter or substitute, and two and a half cups of sugar. Add yolks of ten eggs, half cup orange juice, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon mace. Mix five cups flour and one teaspoon soda with four pounds seeded raisins, two pounds currants and one pound citron or candied orange or lemon peel and add to mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased cake tins. Bake in slow oven (300 to 325 F.) about three hours. It is well to make cake some days or even some weeks before it is to be served so that it may ripen. Wrap in wax paper and keep in tin box. Ice cake with white butter icing the day before it is to be served. The cake that is to be put away to be kept for anniversaries should not be iced.

LITTLE ELK, Minn.—A pure bred White Leghorn, owned by Mrs. Andrew Youngdale, lays three-ounce eggs regularly. She sent an exhibit of 15 eggs recently to a hatchery.

largest of the Sunday school classes in the city. She commented particularly as to Mr. Grable's growth in his work and the high regard in which he was held by the other churches of the city as well as his own.

Dr. Goldner's Eulogy

Rev. Dr. J. H. Goldner, for 33 years minister of the Euclid Avenue church in the city of Cleveland, delivered an eloquent and forceful eulogy on the life and work of Mr. Grable as a pastor. He said that his friendship with Mr. Grable began 41 years ago in Salem, when he spent his college vacation here and attended the Christian church where Mr. Grable was then the minister.

He told of the wonderful work accomplished by Mr. and Mrs. Grable when they had left this city and been called to the Dunham Avenue Christian church in Cleveland. He said this church had been established by his own Euclid Avenue church, but that it grew so rapidly that its membership, both in church and Sunday school, under the leadership of Mr. Grable, more than doubled the Sunday school and membership of the Euclid Avenue church.

Dr. Goldner especially emphasized the intellectual powers of Mr. Grable; that he never heard him speak upon any occasion when he was not thoroughly prepared; that he had been a great and versatile reader and a close student, not only of theology but of world affairs as well; that he commanded the attention of the best minds in the Christian church and that his advice and counsel were always sought when the conventions of the church were assembled and his addresses were listened to attentively by all. He said that he always seemed to have so much force and power in reserve. He was the most modest and retiring of men, but when he spoke he knew his subject.

He spoke of Mr. Grable's ministry in the church at Hiram, where he must preach to please the people of the village, the faculty of the college and the most critical of all, the student body of the college, and Dr. Goldner told how remarkably successful Mr. Grable's ministry had been there.

Opposed War

After discontinuing his regular services as the pastor of a church he supplied ably many pulpits and during the late years of his life following the great war he devoted much of his power as a minister and a speaker in opposition to war.

When Mr. and Mrs. Grable had left Salem and gone to Cleveland they took membership with Dr. Goldner's church and he told with what power Mr. Grable had assisted him and how he now missed him from his accustomed pew.

Mr. Goldner's estimate was that Mr. Grable was at least the equal of any minister in the entire Brotherhood of the Christian church.

The memorial service was largely attended, many being present from the other churches of the city as well as from other cities.

The members of the immediate family, a son, Max Grable, and a daughter, Mrs. Esther Grable Shafer, attended the service.

Quaker Gridders Planning To Start Outdoor Practices Today

Track, Field Athletes Also Gather at School Stadium; 90 to Report

The first real step towards the organization of a spring football varsity is taken by Coach Floyd W. Stone today when he plans to transfer warm-weather gridiron practices to Reilly athletic stadium.

90 To Report

Indoor sessions have been held at the school gymnasium for the last two weeks in both football and track and field sports with more than 90 candidates for varsity spots in the two endeavors being expected to report for today's workout.

Inspections of the stadium gridiron will be held by Stone to ascertain whether it will be possible for the athletes to begin their outdoor sessions. These practices will be continued regularly for the remainder of the season, weather permitting.

A diversified spring athletic program gets under way throughout the Northeastern Ohio district but fans in Salem, while greatly interested in track and field—always a major sport here—are anxiously awaiting a glimpse at the spring grid candidates who, it is expected and hoped, will be given a chance to display their talents in a spring battle.

Given New Plays, Shifts

Stone has been drilling them in several new shifts and a versatile list of plays. A large number of lettermen are back from last year's disastrous campaign but just exactly what the prospects for a strong team are won't be known for some time.

Stone had another bit of hard luck last week when it was reported that Mike Fromm, probably his outstanding backfield prospect, will be withdrawn from school.

While 1933 is the last year for spring training as state legislation calls for its abandonment after September 1, schools throughout the district are holding the warm-weather rehearsals this season.

Asbaugh Gets Ready

Coach Russell Asbaugh, Youngstown South, marked some 125 yards yesterday in preparation for distribution to his footballers. Asbaugh, lost 17 out of 18 lettermen, only Quarterback Lettner returning, Antonec, Habuda and Kaminsky, who dropped out of school a year ago, are back and will be eligible in the fall.

Denny Schill, at Struthers, is a strong advocate of spring practice. He believes that six weeks spent in blocking will permit green leads to know what it's all about in September. Schill plans if practice is eliminated Struthers will find it tough to compete with the larger schools in the fall. Meanwhile, Struthers is preparing for the spring game with South on May 13.

Ches McPhee has distributed some 50 suits at Chaney and he is going ahead with an extensive schedule this year. Efforts to land Erie East for a spring game have proved futile. Rayen will work for two weeks on fundamentals but will not play any games.

Coach Dick Barrett at Campbell Heights, with Cathedral Latin, Toledo Woodward, Ursuline and other new foes will work with five lettermen in his spring practice.

Baseball in 1934

Baseball is not figured to make its appearance in the Class A ranks until 1934, but already the groundwork is being laid for the movement.

The Tri-County league has adopted baseball this year and Lisbon, Sebring, Danamarcus, Louisville, Minerva, East Palestine, Springfield Township and other county outfits will have teams.

Struthers is planning on an outfit for next year as Schill believes it will aid the national sport and also keep active some of Struthers' fine diamond performers.

From Southern Camps

NEW ORLEANS—Forest Two-good, the Iowa boy Manager, Roger Peckinpah hopes will become the only Indian southpaw, was ordered to work with Oral Huldebrand in Cleveland's exhibition game with New Orleans today.

Peck is giving Two-good more than ordinary attention in his desire to give him every chance to stay with the club.

NASHVILLE—Adolph Luque, relief pitcher for the New York Giants, has been around a good many years but he has a new baseball experience to talk about now.

Luque went in against the Detroit Tigers in the eighth inning yesterday and struck out the side. But in between strikeouts, he walked one man and was plastered for one single and two home runs, good for four runs.

YOUNGSTOWN, April 3.—Al Baffert, tricky Canadian champion and George McCloud, 235-pounder from Etina, Ohio, will tangle in the main match of Promotor Bomholt's wrestling show at the Eagles' Hall Thursday night.

Baffert grappled to a one-hour draw with Jim Coffield of Kansas City here last week. McCloud recently wrestled 55 minutes with Champion Jim Laydos. Both men are polished grunners.

BROWN, HUDLIN STAR AS TRIBE TRIMS ORLEANS

Cleveland Gains Double Triumph in Series With Pelicans

NEW ORLEANS, April 3.—Clint Brown and Willis Hudlin pitched fifteen consecutive innings of shut-out baseball today as the Indians walloped the Pelicans in a double header 7 to 0 and 10 to 2.

Hudlin Wins Opener

Twirling for the Cleveland yanigans against the Pelican subs, Hudlin gave up two runs in the first inning and then proceeded to coast through the remainder of the seven-inning contest.

Brown took up the job in the night-cap and, going the full nine-inning route, held the Pels to four widely scattered hits.

Brown To Face Tigers

Just as he was the first Indian pitcher to work seven innings, Brown today became the first to stop the Derby distance, and now it seems more likely than ever that he will draw the honor of opening the season against Detroit ten days hence.

CENTRAL LEAGUE NOT TO OPERATE

Middle Atlantic Circuit Will Be Expanded to Eight Teams

(By Associated Press)

DAYTON, April 3.—The Central League will not operate this season and the Middle-Atlantic probably will expand to an eight-club circuit as a result.

Important at the continued delay in organizing the central loop, H. E. (Ducky) Holmes, holder of the Dayton franchise, turned his favor toward the Mid-Atlantic and thus caused the Central to abandon its plans for this season, at least.

An effort to organize a new class D circuit with teams from Terre Haute, Fort Wayne and Evansville, Ind., and Danville, Bloomington and Springfield, Ill., will be made by Rose Harriott of Terre Haute and Ralph Miller of Fort Wayne, they announced after the break-up meeting last night.

With Holmes in applying for a franchise in the Middle Atlantic League as Alex Pisula, who had planned to place a Central league club in Lima, Pisula who is working under Joseph Cambria of Albany, N. Y., said he would place a Springfield, O., team in the Middle Atlantic.

Should Holmes and Pisula be granted for franchises be granted, the league would be composed of eight teams when it begins play May 4, Johnstown, Pa., Wheeling, Huntington, Charleston, and Beckley, W. Va., and Zanesville, O., already are represented.

Western Reserve Gridders Practice

CLEVELAND, April 3.—Despite the return of 16 letter men and others with varsity experience, Coach Tom Keady had a major problem on his hands today as Western Reserve university's football candidates began spring practice.

Keady needs men to replace Eddie Finnigan and Sheldon Franz in the backfield and Pat Troyan at end. Five letter men are seeking backfield positions. They are Doc Ulrich, Barron Keady, Ted Kremer, Harry Pontius and Doc Clark. Vic Ippolito, of last year's freshman squad, is considered good material because of the ability he displayed in running, passing and kicking.

NATIONAL CAGE RULES UNIT TO MEET THURSDAY

Fef, If Any, Changes Are Planned In Game's Rules for 1934

BY FORREST C. (PHOG) ALLEN
Member Joint Rules Committee
(Written for the Associated Press)

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 3.—On April 6 and 7 the National Association of Basketball Coaches will meet in New York City to lend their support to or their disapproval of certain rule changes of this rapidly growing indoor sport.

The following two days, April 8 and 9, the Joint Basketball Rules Committee will meet to consider the recommendations of the coaches' association and to add any further needed remedial rule legislation.

Perhaps in no one single year there has been as much violent criticism leveled against the basketball rule changes as was this year. However, once the season got under way these objections subsided almost entirely.

From men high in the councils of basketball rule administration and legislation an almost unanimity of opinion prevails regarding the forward step the rule makers consummated.

L. W. St. John, chairman of the Joint Rules Committee and director of athletics at Ohio State University, says, "The game, in my judgment, is the best it has been for several years. I am strong for leaving the rules pretty much alone."

Functioned Smoothly

Oswald Tower, editor of the Guide and a member of the Joint Rules Committee, writes, "So far the opinion is almost unanimously in favor of the 10-second rule and only less favorable toward the three-second rule. I still marvel over the fact that changes which affected so drastically the complexion of the game could function so smoothly the first season."

Contemplated alterations or minor changes probably will occupy the coaches' attention in their two-day session. The agitation for the elimination of the center tip-off which was dominant a few years back, will no doubt come up for discussion.

The matter of raising the baskets from 10 to 12 feet was advanced last year, but I predict this will receive little consideration.

The suggestion of widening the college courts three feet on both sides, making the playing court 56 feet wide by 94 feet long, will enlist some followers among the tutors.

The three second rule is liable to receive some modification. There are those who contend that the pivot post man with his back to the basket should have no more immunity from guarding than that allowed any offensive player.

Much more important than any of the above mentioned defects of the game, however, is the peril of blatant rowdiness expressed in the form of booing, hissing and the well known Bronx cheer. I think that booing and rowdiness are getting so bad that unless definite steps are made to curtail them they will kill the game.

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

Lacking school facilities because of earthquake damage, children of Long Beach, Calif., are going to school via radio and getting regular credits.

Upon the recommendation of G. C. Ockerman, principal of Jefferson Jr. high school, the Long Beach board of education has put into operation a plan which permits pupils to do their school work at home by listening to the WABC-CBS school of the air.

Full credit is given for the lessons studied in this manner.

After about four more Sundays, Eddie Cantor will wind up another radio season to spend the spring and summer in making a movie. He expects to be back in the fall. A ten-day operation forced Lanny Ross, tenor to miss his first program in five years of broadcasting. He expects to be back this week. A musical version of the passion play, presented by the new Gregorian club of St. Patrick's cathedral, is scheduled for WJZ-NBC Thursday afternoon.

Barrymores Combine Talents In State Theater Attraction

A DRAMATIC plot which reflects history and the most noted theatrical family of the world lend glamour to "Rasputin and the Empress," superfilm, telling the story of the fall of the Romanoff empire and bringing together on the screen for the first time Ethel, John and Lionel Barrymore.

The film plays at the State theater today and Tuesday.

Boleslavsky, war hero and author, was the producer of such stage plays as "The Miracle" and "The Vagabond King."

Lionel Barrymore plays Rasputin, the mad monk, the ill-fated czarina by Ethel, and Prince Chagodoff by John. The czar is enacted by Ralph Morgan, who did such excellent work in "Strange Interlude"; Princess Natasha is enacted by Diana Wynyard, charming English star, who, for her excellent work in this film, has been given some of the most choice roles of the season; little nine-year-old Tad Alexander, who was Norma Shearer's son in "Strange Interlude," plays the young Prince. Hypnotized by the monk, he is in charge of a remarkable combination of boyishness and maturity.

The story tells of a strange monk, Rasputin, who, by curing the little Russian czar's daughter of a deadly ailment, makes the superstitious czar and czarina his slaves, rules Russia through them, precipitates a riot of orgy, meddles with politics and plunges Russia into the world war.

Then after his death comes the revolution that seals the doom of the Romanoff dynasty.

Authentic makeup literally recreates the original players in this strange drama, and huge settings, true to the originals, add further to the realism.

Spectacular Scenes

The spectacular court audience with hundreds of brilliantly garbed attendants, the great cathedral scene and the huge review are among the spectacles believed to be the most impressive since the advent of the talkies.

The dramatic incidents include the hypnotizing of the little prince until he turns like a beast on John Barrymore, the fantastic orgy in Rasputin's apartment, the plot by which Rasputin sends the czar into the war, the assassination of Grand Duke Igor and the ruin of his daughter, the betrayal of the little Grand Duchess, the sinister vengeance of the nobles on the mad monk, the declaration of war, and the romantic interlude between John Barrymore and Diana Wynyard.

Here and There About Town

Calgary Pastor Here

"The Greatest Business in the World," was the theme used by Rev. Percy Mundy, Calgary, Canada, former Salem resident, who gave an inspiring talk to members of the Personal Workers league Sunday afternoon at the rooms, South Broadway.

Jesus Christ did not come primarily as a healer or as an example, but as a winner of souls," Rev. Mundy stated.

"This is the greatest mission of the church and the church should be concerned with mountain top experiences, instead of secondary trivial matters."

Ralph Snyder, chorister, sang, "If I Cling to the Cross," with Mrs. Snyder at the piano. Approximately 75 men attended the service.

Commends America

For the third of a series of sermons on the "Second Coming of Jesus Christ," Rev. C. F. Bailey, pastor of the First Friends church, discussed "The Time of Jacob's Trouble" at the Sunday evening service.

Rev. Bailey commended America for the protection she has given the Jews and the speaker expressed the opinion that because this country has protected "God's chosen people" that it will be returned in blessing to the nation.

Rev. Bailey discussed Bible prophecy concerning the Jews and also present day conditions in their significance to the close of this dispensation.

Next Sunday night Rev. Bailey will use for his theme, "The Battle of All the Nations."

Keeper of the Key

Receiving the key of a city is an honor under any circumstances, but taking it from the hand of beautiful Miss Ethel Hook makes the ceremony a two-fold honor. She is the guardian of the golden key of Long Beach, Cal., and it is her official duty to present the key to each of the 32 major conventions scheduled to be held in the California city during the coming season.

Financial Troubles

Hard times have caught up with Alice Joyce (above), one-time film star. She has just filed a petition for voluntary bankruptcy in the Federal Court at Carson City, Nev., listing $24.75 as assets. Liabilities of nearly $50,000 were listed, of which $29,000 represent notes she endorsed for others. Miss Joyce was divorced in Reno in January from James Regan, Jr., New York hotel man.

cut a flat 20 per cent and a new system of five ratings of disability established. The new ratings and allowances:

Ten per cent disability, $8 monthly; 25 per cent, $20; 50 per cent, $40; 75 per cent, $60, and 100 per cent, $80.

In-between ratings, such as 41 per cent disabled, are discounted and all such cases will be reclassified. All payments for temporary disabilities of a non-service character and free hospitalization for such disabilities will be eliminated.

Reserve Challenge Right

Under one regulation veterans of the Spanish-American war, Philippine insurrection and Boxer rebellion and the widows and children of World war veterans will continue to receive present pensions under a "presumption" that the pension is payable because of service-connected disability, but the government can challenge this "presumption."

Officials said that there also would be a cut of 10 per cent on July 1, in pensions for Civil and Indian war veterans and their widows under the new economy law.

Many instances are so unconscionably high as to be contrary to a sound public policy, and, by a temporary readjustment of amortization, to give sufficient time to farmers to restore to them the hope of ultimate free ownership of their own land.

"I seek an end to the threatened losses of home and productive capacity now faced by hundreds of thousands of American farm families."

The legislation I suggest will not impose a heavy burden upon the national treasury.

"It will, instead, provide a means by which, through existing agencies of the government, the farm owners of the nation will be enabled to refinance themselves on reasonable terms, lighten their harassing burdens and give them a fair opportunity to return to sound conditions."

"I shall presently ask for additional legislation as a part of the broad program, extending this wholesome principle to the small home owners of the nation, likewise faced with this threat."

"Also, I shall ask the congress for legislation enabling us to initiate practical reciprocal tariff agreements to break through trade barriers and establish foreign markets for farm and industrial products."

(Signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt "The White House" "April 3, 1933."

FIVE ATTACKED BY CRAZED MAN

Four Women and 11-Yr.-Old Girl are Victims of Toledo Madman

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO, O., April 3.—An apparently crazed knife-wielder, who attacked four women and an 11-year-old girl, was hunted by police today.

They expressed the belief the man described by his victims as about 30-years old, had been smoking cigarettes filled with narcotics. The girl and one woman victim reported a peculiar odor about his person.

The manner in which he fled as soon as his victims screamed added to the evidence that the man was under the influence of narcotics, police said.

Mrs. Charles Jacobs was the woman stabbed. She told police the man leaped upon her as she walked past an alley in the downtown section last night.

She felt a blow in the back as he snatched at her purse but was not aware that she had been cut until recover although the knife had cut she ran into the home of a friend. Hospital physicians said she would deeply.

The 11-year-old girl was attacked in an alley a few blocks away. The other three women said the man grabbed them about the neck and attempted to drag them from the sidewalk. They said he fled when they screamed.

One of them, Miss Jackie Mason, was attacked while walking in the business section. The others, Mrs. Ella James and Miss Beatrice Deeb, 23, said they were seized in North Toledo. Miss Deeb lost her purse containing $2.

Wound Is Fatal

FINDLAY, O., April 3.—A bullet wound suffered when police arrested him for questioning about the $13,000 Gallipolis bank robbery caused the death of Robert W. Jones, alias Robert W. Lyons, alias R. W. Mitchell.

Jones, steadfastly refusing to talk about the holdup, died Saturday a few hours after the grand jury had indicted him and two others for the robbery. Police found $4,500 in Jones' hotel room.
